Instructions for Use

Why Pumping?

Pumping the erogenous zones of your body can help prepare it for sexual activity. Areas that have been pumped have increased blood flow and become enlarged, allowing for heightened sensitivity during intercourse or masturbation.

TO OPERATE:

- Choose which cup you would like to use and attach it to the handle.
- To attach, locate the triangle marking on the cup's neck and line it up with the triangle marking on the receiving end in the handle.
- Push the cup lightly into the handle, keeping the triangles lined up.
- Push to attach; DO NOT TWIST.
- Ensure that silicone rim is correctly fitted on cup.
- Apply water-based lubricant or glide to the silicone rim of the pump. This will help form a seal and create suction.
- Suction and vibration functions can work independently or together.

TO OPERATE SUCTION FUNCTIONS:

- Press  to power on the pump's automatic suction and choose 1 of 7 suction functions. Within a few seconds, enough suction should form to keep the pumping chamber in place without holding it.
- If vibration is desired, this is the time to power on and select one of the pump's 7 vibration patterns (see below).
- When the area is visibly swollen or when the recipient is ready to stop, press and hold the air-release button, gently remove the pump, and hold down the  for 2 seconds to stop suction.
- Use extra lubricant for sex or masturbation after pumping.

TO OPERATE VIBRATING FUNCTIONS:

- Press  to power on vibration.
- Press  to cycle through the 7 different vibration functions.
- Press and hold  for 2 seconds to power off vibration.

TO CHARGE:

- Plug USB end into your preferred power source.
- Connect cable to small port on bottom of pump handle. The LED display will flash while charging.
- Pump fully charges in 120 minutes. The LED display will remain continuously lit once fully charged.
- Usage time: 60 minutes on highest speed, 90 minutes on lowest speed
- The LED display will turn off when charging cable is detached.
